

UIC Model Theory Seminar, October 3, 2006
The complex field with a predicate for the integers

Kathryn Vozoris
University of Illinois at Chicago

We will discuss model theoretic properties of the complex field with a predicate for the integers. In particular that the theory is quasiminimal, has quantifier elimination up to quantification over the integers and is model complete. We will also consider some definability results.