California Department of Insurance

The California Department of Insurance (CDI) was created in 1868 as part of a national system of state-based insurance regulation. Today CDI is the largest consumer protection agency in the state, with over 1400 employees, and is led by Commissioner Ricardo Lara. With hundreds of billions of dollars in yearly direct premiums, California is the largest insurance market in the United States and among the largest in the entire world.

CDI employs actuaries to test and oversee insurer solvency and to review rate filings and non-forfeiture values. Regulatory actuaries ensure compliance with state laws and regulations by checking rate development in property and casualty, health, and long term care insurances.

Hiring for: Internship and full-time positions

CDI does not sponsor international students for full-time positions, but we do hire international students for the Student Assistant positions during the summer.
