Introduction
OBSTACLES FOR INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

• Companies are reluctant to hire international students because:
  • They will need to sponsor them for H1-B visas for full time employment
  • Significant cost and time
  • No guarantee that H1-B visa will be approved (lottery system)

• They are more willing to hire local students if international students don’t exceptionally stand out!
WHAT SHOULD YOU DO?

• Don’t give up! Be patient; it’s just a matter of time!

• Improve yourself by working on:
  • Resume (GPA, experiences, technical skills, leadership)
  • Interviewing skills (communication, professionalism, personality)

• Research visa regulations and plan ahead while recruiting

• Make a Plan B! Find other (overseas) opportunities

• Seek more help and resources

VERBAL SOFT SKILLS

• Research and prepare well. Familiarize yourself with words and phrases that might come up to avoid confusion.

• Speak slowly and clearly. Don’t worry too much that English isn’t your first language. As long as they can communicate with you, the language barrier should not be a problem.

• Talk about your past achievements. Your interviewers will not know how great you are for the position unless you tell them first!

• Be yourself and share your experiences. Being an international student can illustrate your ability to adapt to a new environment.
VERBAL SOFT SKILLS

• Enthusiastic greetings!
  • Smile!
  • Show excitement and positivity

• Pay attention to the facial expression of your listener
  • Adapt the speed of your voice
  • Adapt the length of your answer

• Pay attention to what they say and ask

• Engage others by asking questions. Don’t interrupt the conversation
  • If you do interrupt, you can say “Sorry, go ahead”

• Strike a balance between formal and casual when networking
The Worst Question to Ask

- Do you sponsor international students?
  - You are asking what the company can do for you, instead of sharing what you can do for the company.
  - If they say no, the conversation is awkward on both sides.
  - If they say yes, you risk alienating these firms by showing you are only interested in them because they sponsor...
ALTERNATIVE SOLUTION

• 2 types of companies
  • They specifically say they won't sponsor (company policy)
    • Move on and don’t waste time on the application
  • They did not say they won’t sponsor
    • A little more flexible. Don’t ask if they sponsor and assume they will.
    • Try your best to impress them

• Many companies are not black-and-white. They will sponsor international students that are more qualified than local candidates
• If you must ask, save it for the end

• Some ways to rephrase the question:
  • Do you encourage qualified international students to apply?
  • Is the company open to sponsoring exceptionally qualified candidates for [entry-level] positions?
  • What advice do you have for international students seeking a position at your company?
HOW TO FIND OUT IF FIRMS SPONSOR

• Do your research! Available resources include:
  • Handshake
  • Google
  • Ask international friends who applied and secured jobs before

• Note: BAS is not responsible for providing a list of firms that sponsor
WRITTEN SOFT SKILLS

• Keep your message clear and concise.
  • Avoid lengthy sentences

• Check your spelling, punctuation, and grammar
  • Spell-Checker
  • Auto spelling and grammar function in Microsoft Word

• Keep it professional
  • Don’t use multiple colors and dazzling font types
  • Follow the formatting requirements for writing essays
EMAIL TIPS AND ETIQUETTE

• Subject Line: Keep it short and meaningful
• Greeting: Use a professional salutation
  • “Dear Mr./Ms. _____”
  • Use “Hi” only later if they reply with “Hi”
• Content: Introduce yourself and provide context for why you're emailing
• Length: No more than 5-7 sentences per paragraph
  • Easier to read
• Closing: Use professional closing and sign your name
  • E.g. Best regards, sincerely, etc
REMINDEERS (FOR EVERYONE)

• Do not put a photograph on your resume
• Do not ask the firm reps for favorable treatment
  • What questions should I prepare for before the interview?
  • Can you give me an interview?
  • Can you recommend me for a job?
• Do not ask firm reps if they can speak another foreign language
  • It can make them feel uncomfortable

• Look for an internship/employment in your home country
• Ask your friends/parents back in your home country, or Google/LinkedIn/Handshake
• Recruiting season is slightly later than the U.S., beginning in early March
• Companies in your home country may have different requirements than American firms
• It is still very competitive to get an internship back in your home country, but at the very least, the visa status will no longer be a burden
