KURT GÖDEL'S LEGACY

Brno, Czech Republic, August 25–29, 1996

The Gödel '96 conference was held on August 25–29 in Brno, Czech Republic, the town in which Kurt Gödel was born and in which he lived till he went to study at the University of Vienna. The lectures were held at the Masaryk University, Brno, whose Faculty of Computer Science was the main organizer. Seventy-eight people participated in the conference.

The conference was held under the auspices of the Association for Symbolic Logic, the Institute of Computer Science of the Academy of Sciences of the Czech Republic, and the international Kurt Gödel Society based in Vienna. It received financial support from the European Association for Computer Science Logic, the International Union of History and Philosophy of Science, Division of Logic, Methodology and Philosophy of Science, the International Institute for Software Technology of The United Nations University, and Hewlett-Packard S.R.O., ZPA-CZ Trutnov, Czech Republic.

There were eleven invited lectures, by Matthias Baaz (Technische Universität Wien), G. F. R. Ellis (University of Cape Town), Solomon Feferman (Stanford University), Daniel Isaacson (Oxford University), Boris A. Kushner (University of Pittsburgh at Johnstown), Menachem Magidor (Hebrew University of Jerusalem), Charles Parsons (Harvard University), Pavel Pudlák (Academy of Sciences, Prague) Wilfried Sieg (Carnegie Mellon University), Gaisi Takeuti (University of Illinois), Albert Visser (University of Utrecht).

There were twenty-one other talks. Most of the talks were published in the conference proceedings which were published as Lecture Notes in Logic 6 (1996) by Springer-Verlag.
